Legislative Update — January 2018

FEDERAL ISSUES

Post Federal Government Shutdown

By Becker & Poliakoff

On January 22nd, the House and Senate passed a continuing resolution extending government funding through February 8th. The President subsequently signed it into law.

The Deal

In addition to re-opening the government, the legislation provides funding for the Children's Health Insurance Program, (CHIP) through FY 2023. It also deposited $980 million in the Medicaid Improvement Fund and delayed three taxes imposed by the Affordable Care Act.

Beyond the Deal

Congress must reach an agreement to raise spending caps in order to consider an Omnibus Appropriation package that would include funding for all agencies and programs. This Omnibus bill must be passed before the end of February 8th if the government is to avoid another shutdown.

Components of the Omnibus Bill

- 1) Amendment to the Budget Control Act-The Budget Control Act of 2011 created automatic spending cuts often labeled as the sequester. These cuts will be administered if Congress cannot pass an amendment to raise the budget caps. The current caps are $549 billion for defense and $516 billion for nondefense. Republicans would like to increase defense caps by roughly $80 billion. Many Democrats would like to see an equal in domestic caps as well.
- 2) FY 2018 Appropriations Legislation-Congress is currently four months into the current fiscal year yet there have been no floor votes on any appropriations bills. The Appropriations Committee will distribute allocations to the appropriations subcommittees and they will begin to hash out the details. Many observers are hopeful that an agreement can be reached. This has the potential to delay the FY2019 budget process. The statutory deadline for the President's fiscal 2019 budget is February 5th and FY2019 begins on October 1st.

3) The National Flood Insurance Program and Disaster Assistance- The National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) is set to expire on February 8th unless action is taken. The NFIP provides affordable insurance to property owners and encourages flood susceptible communities to adopt and enforce floodplain management regulations.

The $81 billion Disaster Aid Package providing relief to Texas, Florida, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Island will likely be included in the Omnibus package. It was passed by the House, but the Senate has yet to act on it. Some Democrats believe that the current relief package does not do enough to help Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

4) The Debt Ceiling- The "extraordinary measures" being used to pay the country's bills are likely to run out sometime in the spring, and the U.S. is expected to reach its borrowing limit in late March/early April. Measures to prevent this outcome are likely to be included in the Omnibus package.

5) Immigration and DACA Deal (Potentially) - If a DACA and immigration compromise is reached before February 8th, it will be included in the Omnibus. Renewals for current DACA recipients end on March 5th. Majority Leader McConnell (R-KY) and Minority Leader Schumer (D-NY) have made an agreement though that if no deal is made by the next deadline, an immigration and DACA solution will be brought to the Senate floor for action.

6) Health Care Stabilizers (Potentially) – Majority Leader McConnell previously promised Senator Collins (R-ME) that if the Senator were to vote for tax reform, then the Senate would pass Affordable Care Act (ACA) stabilization measures by the end of the year. There are currently two ACA stabilization measures up for consideration. The first is a measure championed by Senator Alexander (R-TN) and Senator Murray (D-WA) which would fund cost-sharing reduction payments for two years. The other measure was authored by Senator Collins and Senator Nelson (D-FL) and would allocate funding for state-based reinsurance programs.

Issues Going Forward

1) Infrastructure: During his campaign, President Trump pledged to invest $1 trillion into the nation's crumbling infrastructure. Some Republicans believe providing credits to the private sector would incentive infrastructure development. There is also the question of where the funding will come from. This legislation will likely go beyond highway and transportation infrastructure to also invest in rural broadband access and airport, port, and water infrastructure.

2) Farm Policy: The Farm Bill is passed every five years and covers federal farm, food, and conservation policy. The current Farm Bill expires on September 30th. Some observers believe that the House will move on something by the middle of March. The Senate is not likely to take action until May.

3) Dodd-Frank Reforms: The House has already passed the Home Mortgage Disclosure Adjustment Act (H.R.2954) and the Investor Clarity and Bank Parity Act (H.R.3093). The Home Mortgage Disclosure Adjustment Act would provide an exemption from mortgage loan reporting requirements to certain companies. The Investor Clarity and Bank Parity Act would eliminate the name-sharing ban implemented under the Volcker Rule.

4) National Defense Authorization Act: This legislation has been enacted annually since 1961. It specifies the budget and expenditures of the United States Department of Defense. Some observers believe it will likely be considered in the House in May or June and in the Senate in June or July.

5) Iran: President Trump has issued an ultimatum on the Iran deal to European allies. The President has threatened to withdraw the United States from the deal if improvements are not made. Iran is currently going through turbulent times as they have been facing mass protests. President Trump has repeatedly expressed his support for the protestors.

6) Energy: On January 19th, the House Energy Commerce Committee held a hearing on the Unlocking our Domestic LNG Potential Act (H.R.4605) and the Ensuring Small Scale LNG Certainty and Access Act (H.R. 4606). These bills would expedite permitting for exports of natural gas. Furthermore, some observers believe that a comprehensive energy bill will be considered by the Senate at some point in the upcoming months.

7) Net Neutrality: This past December, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) voted to repeal its net neutrality rules. But that decision is being challenged in the courts and in Congress. Many states are also moving to pass their own net neutrality rules. The Senate might consider a vote this year on legislation that overrules the FCC's repeal. Meanwhile in the House, there's an effort underway to use the Congressional Review Act as a mechanism to undo the FCC's decision.

8) Higher Education: The Higher Education Act was last authorized ten years ago. In the upcoming months, Congress must reauthorize or extend the Act. Some observers believe that a straight extension is most likely.

Combatting the Opioid Crisis: Exploiting Vulnerabilities in International Mail

By Becker & Poliakoff

- The purpose of this Subcommittee on Investigations hearing was to shed light on the illegal shipment of fentanyl through the U.S. Postal Service (USPS) and figure out methods to counter it.
- Senator Portman (R-OH) advocates adopting the Synthetic Trafficking and Overdose Prevention Act. This legislation would require advanced electronic data on all international packages shipped through USPS.
- The Universal Postal Union (UNU) is making efforts to facilitate the exchange of advanced electronic data.
- USPS receives advanced electronic data on around 40 percent of parcels entering the United States.
- Mr. Siemer, (Acting Deputy Inspector General at USPS) stressed the importance of building up USPS's data analytics capacity. He also explained how a lot of the advanced electronic data USPS receives is incomplete and inaccurate. Mr. Siemer further emphasized the need for enhanced cross agency collaboration and more efficient data sharing.

- DEA has been working with China to curb the trade of fentanyl. Lately, there has been enhanced information sharing between the two nations. He also believes that the DEA's new office in China will be extremely helpful. The office will help ensure that there is greater collaboration along China's southern border.
- Mr. Cintron (Vice President of Network Operations at USPS) explained the importance of passing comprehensive postal reform and Mr. Siemer discussed how a board of governors could improve the USPS.

This Week In Washington

By Becker and Poliakoff

President Trump will deliver his State of the Union address to congress. The President will outline his extensive infrastructure plan and reiterate his legislative priorities on immigration, trade, and national security.

THE HOUSE

Will continue spending talks and attempt to negotiate a solution on the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program.

The House will continue to negotiate how much to raise funding caps for defense and domestic programs. Republicans are advocating a larger increase for defense caps, while Democrats are advocating a roughly equal increase.

The House will try to determine the fate of the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program. President Trump has recently proposed a path to citizenship for the Dreamers in exchange for a reduction in family immigration and a wall along the U.S.-Mexico border.

The following House hearings will also take place:

- The Energy and Commerce Communications and Technology Subcommittee will hold a hearing to evaluate 15 bills aimed at expanding broadband access.
- The Armed Services Committee will hold a hearing on readying the U.S. military for future warfare.

THE SENATE

Will continue consideration of President Trump's nominees and will hold a cloture vote on a controversial abortion measure.

The Senate may vote to limit debate on the nomination of David Stras to be a U.S. Circuit Judge for the Eighth District.

The Senate will hold a cloture vote on the Pain-Capable Unborn Child Protection Act. This legislation will make it a crime to perform an abortion on a fetus after 20 weeks.

The following Senate hearings will also take place:

- The Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee will hold a hearing with testimony from Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin. The Secretary will deliver the Financial Stability Oversight Council's annual report.
- The Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee will hold a hearing on reauthorizing the Higher Education Act.

STATE ISSUES

CRC Update

By Florida Association of Counties

Proposal 95 Senator Tom Lee, requested that Proposal 95 be temporarily passed. This means the measure has been postponed and can either be withdrawn by the sponsor or be brought back up at a future CRC Local Government Committee Meeting.

Proposal 95 would create a constitutional prohibition against any county, municipality, or special district's regulation of any type of commerce, trade, or labor, unless such regulation operated exclusively within the respective entity's own boundaries in a manner not prohibited by law.

Proposal 61 Another win for home rule was the passage of Proposal 61, which would require any proposed bill with a preemption be filed with the preemption portion considered on its own in a standalone bill. This process would prevent preemptions from being buried in large complex bills. Proposal 61 passed the committee and will now go to the CRC Legislative Committee.

Proposal 26 was brought up and then the proposal and amendment were immediately temporarily passed because the sponsor of the proposal was unable to attend the committee meeting. The measure, however, will likely be brought back up at a future CRC Local Government Committee Meeting.

Proposal 26 would create an Office of Domestic Security and Counter-Terrorism within the Department of Law Enforcement. The current language grants the county sheriff authority for security of county operated facilities including courthouses. A pending amendment to the proposal would narrow the sheriff's authority to courthouses and court facilities. FAC opposes both the proposal and the amendment.
